As one of the oldest and largest fair trade organizations, Ten Thousand Villages has established long-term relationships with artisans in approximately 35 countries, enabling families to earn a fair wage and better quality of life. For the past 30 years, Ten Thousand Villages has partnered with Bunyaad Rugs—an artisan group based in Lahore, Pakistan—to provide the highest quality, highest knot-count fair-trade rugs. Founded in the 1960s, Bunyaad emphasizes peacebuilding as well as fair trade practices, working with Christian and Muslim families to transcend differences for the greater good. Bunyaad currently works with approximately 850 families in 100 villages throughout Pakistan.
